TRINITY COLLEGE.

Speakers are Obtained for Annual Commencement.

Trinity Park, Durham, Jan. 13.—To save possible annoyance on account of a conflict of dates of some of the speakers as a matter of convenience and progress the authorities of Trinity College have at this early date practically completed the programme for the annual commencement, securing for the occasion speakers of National reputation. The commencement will begin June 4th, with the baccalaureate address by President John C. Kilgo. The commencement sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Richard Wilkinson, pastor of the Rayne Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, at New Orleans, La. The event of probably the most interest will be the annual address to students which will be delivered by Rev. Gilbert T. Rowe, Concord.

Bishop Charles E. Galloway, of Jackson Miss., will deliver a series of lectures at Craven Memorial Hall, March 28th, 29th, and 30th, under the auspices of the Avera Department of Biblical literature. This series of lectures was made possible by a fund donated to the college for the purpose in honor of late Mr. W. A. Avera, by his wife. These lectures have been of unusual interest and have attracted quite a little attention. The public is invited. The previous lectures have been delivered by Bishop W. W. Duncan, Bishop Warren A. Chandler, J. H. Kirkland and Bishop A. W. Wilson.

BENT HER DOUBLE.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get. I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at the Justus drug store; price 50c.

READ THIS.

The Dispensary has Been Tested and Failed.

The Gaffney (S. C.) Ledger, which is mainly responsible for the dispensary being put out of that place, hands this out to the dispensary advocates:

"It may interest some of our exchanges, especially those who have been taboing the idea of prohibition, to know that within the entire two weeks following Christmas the shipments of liquor into this county have not been so much as they were just preceding the holidays by one fourth. It may interest them further to know that a 'gentleman' (?) who came to Gaffney to take orders for whiskey was arrested and made to put up a cash bond of $25.00 for his appearance before the Mayor, and rather than appear forfeited the bond. It may still further interest them to know that drunkenness has decreased 200 per cent. over, in the county. It may yet be still more interesting to know that city and county taxes will be about 2 mills higher and that the people will cheerfully pay the extra tax. We say that all this may interest them, but the pro-dispensary papers will be slow to admit the truth of the statements here made (except the last one), and will refrain from making any favorable comment on the same. Prohibition does not prohibit entirely, but it's a long step toward a higher ideal of citizenship, especially where the sentiment of the people is for it and the officers of the law are as vigilant as are the officers of Gaffney City and Cherokee county. Put that in your pipe and smoke it, Mr. Dispensary Advocate."

Marry At Thirty.

London, Jan 7.—In a recent contribution in the National Review on the age at which a girl should marry, Mrs. Earle argues that it is better for a girl to seek happiness before she is thirty years of age, even if she loses the chance of a wealthy husband by so doing.

A member of a woman's club explained the several practical views of the question to your correspondent yesterday.

"Life new is so luxurious," she said, "so filled with distractions, that no one can afford to marry early."

"Young men dare not ask women used to the restaurant and cab standard of existence to marry them, and the women would not accept them if they did."

"Thirty may not be the ideal marriage age, but at that age marriage generally becomes most possible, and that is the age at which most modern women marry."

A lady doctor considered that at the age of twenty-six a girl reaches her physical and mental maturity.

"Health, heredity, environment and social influence must all be taken into the question," she said, "and though it would be unwise to lay down any hard and fast rule, it is safe to say that by the time she reaches her 28th year a girl is sufficiently matured to marry."

The popular, and, incidentally, the sentimental point of view was voiced by a South London clergyman.

"Our natural well being," he said, "depends upon men and women forming the marriage tie when their powers, physical and mental, are at their best."

"Love is and can be, however, the only true basis for marriage. When a woman, young or old, meets the man she loves, then is the time to marry."
